

ALL ARE FOR SILVER
AT SIXTEEN TO ONEILLINOIS DEMOCRATS STATE
THEIR POSITION.

Altgeld, Hinrichson & Company's Aggregation Adopt Resolutions Favoring the White Metal At the Springfield Convention Yesterday—Kentucky Republicans.

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—Illinois Democrats fulfilled the utmost hopes of free silver advocates in yesterday's state convention. The convention declared for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 and the action of the state committee in calling the state convention was indorsed.

Secretary Hinrichson called the convention to order at noon, and the temporary organization, as given Tuesday, was named.

Judge Crawford, the temporary chairman, made a short and vigorous talk and then a recess of an hour was taken.

After the intermission Judge McConnell was announced as the permanent chairman of the convention. He was seated with enthusiasm. His speech showed careful preparation and was listened to with attention.

General John A. McClelland, of Springfield, was introduced and made a few remarks, and then came the resolutions. They were read by ex-congressman Fithian, and were cheered.

They closed with an enthusiastic indorsement of Governor Altgeld, and this raised a discussion. Finally this was withdrawn and the platform was adopted. The delegates to the national monetary convention were then announced, and the convention at 5:30 p. m. adjourned sine die.

Besides the address of Secretary Hinrichson in opening the convention Congressman William J. Bryan of Omaha addressed the delegates. After showing how, in his opinion, the coinage of silver would be of benefit to the country, he concluded: "If, as all admit, the money question is now the question of supreme importance, it must follow that the people will trust that party with its settlement, which first fearlessly espouses the truth. The Democratic party must take its position upon this question, and by the correctness of that position will rise or fall. No coward, whether an individual or party, can long retain the confidence of the people. Not only is it necessary for the Democratic party to take a position, but the sooner it defines the position the greater will be its opportunities to win success in 1896."

Then Congressman Andy Hunter spoke, and Governor Altgeld was on motion invited to address the convention. His remarks were listened to with close attention. He was enthusiastically received and when he closed the convention gave him another ovation. The chairman then introduced Richard Michaels of Chicago, editor of the Freie Presse, as the representative of the Germans. He was received with applause. General John A. McClelland was the next speaker. He was introduced as representing the old soldiers.

The resolutions declare that the demonetization of silver has deprived the people of free use and benefits of a valuable and original money metal and has increased debts and added to the burdens of the people by lowering the value of labor and labor products. They go on:

"Whereas, The constitution of the United States prohibits any state from using anything but gold and silver coin as a legal tender for the payment of debts, thereby recognizing that coin composed of silver or of gold is honest money and fit to be used as legal tender; therefore, be it

"Resolved, By the democrats of Illinois, in convention assembled, that we are in favor of the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the United States, and demand the free and unlimited coinage of both metals at the action of any other nation, and that such coins shall be a legal tender for all debts, both public and private, and that all contracts hereafter executed for the payment of money, whether in gold, silver, or coin, may be discharged by any money which is by law legal tender.

"Resolved, That we hereby indorse the action of the democratic state central committee in calling this convention, and we instruct the committee to carry out the will of this convention as expressed in its platform by inaugurating and carrying on a campaign of education in this state and to thoroughly organize the democracy of the state on the lines as laid down in the platform of this convention.

"Resolved, That the democratic members of congress and members of the senate from the state be and they are hereby instructed to use all honorable means to carry out the principles above enunciated.

"Resolved, That we request the democratic national committee to call a democratic national convention to consider the money question not later than August, 1895. If the committee refuses to call such a convention, then we invite the democratic state committees of other states to take concurrent action with the democratic state committee of this state in calling such convention."

The resolution indorsing the administration of Gov. Altgeld was, after much sharp debate, stricken out.

BRADLEY IS NOMINATED.

Named for Governor by the Republicans of Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., June 6.—The republican state convention was called to order yesterday at 2:30 p. m. by John W. Yerkes, state central chairman. Fully 5,000 people occupied seats in the auditorium. After a few routine calls on different committees the convention went into permanent organization with Congressman Walter Evans as chairman and Sam J. Roberts of Lexington as secretary. The whole afternoon session was confined to organization. In the evening the convention again met.

THE PRINCE OF THE PLATFORM ON THE currency and coinage question are as follows: "We are opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, believing that it would involve the country in financial ruin. We believe in a sound currency and in the use of both gold and silver for coinage, provided always that a dollar in one is made precisely as valuable as a dollar in the other.

"We favor a tariff so regulated as to protect the interests of all classes of our citizens upon articles that may be successfully manufactured or produced in this country, thus insuring good wages to the laborer and a home market to the producer, and in connection with this we favor the establishment of the doctrine of reciprocity." The platform was unanimously adopted. Col. W. O. Bradley of Lancaster, Garrard county, was nominated for governor. The nomination was made unanimously. For lieutenant-governor eight candidates were in the field, and there being no choice on the first ballot, the convention adjourned till this morning.

IOWA SILVER MEN.

Sweeping Resolution in Favor of White Metal Adopted.

Des Moines, Ia., June 6.—The conference of the silver men of the state brought out a large attendance yesterday. Amos Steckel, of Bloomfield, was chairman of the meeting. The committee on resolutions reported the following on the silver question: "Resolved, By this non-partisan state conference, assembled in the city of Des Moines, this June 5, 1895: 'I. That we favor the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, without the aid or consent of any other nation on earth.

"2. That we ask all men of all parties who hold to the doctrine above expressed to vote for only such candidates for state offices and members of the next general assembly as will pledge themselves to the principles above announced, and to make this the supreme issue until the silver dollar of our fathers be fully restored to the people."

The sentiment of the meeting was decidedly in favor of forcing the silver question on the great parties and of independent organization if they would not give it recognition.

To-day there will be another meeting of leading silver Democrats of the state to consider means to influence the state convention in favor of silver, and, if possible, plan the capture of the convention for silver and insure the adoption of free silver resolutions.

Meeting of Arkansas Republicans. Little Rock, Ark., June 6.—The republican state league convention was called to order yesterday by President A. S. Fowler of this city. A committee on resolutions, three from the state at large and one from each congressional district, was appointed. The resolutions reaffirm the doctrines of the republican national platform of 1892, and condemn the action of the Arkansas delegation in congress in voting to place lumber on the free list.

IOWA'S MULCT LAW.

Judge Brannan of Scott County Decides in Its Favor.

Davenport, Iowa, June 6.—The Iowa mulct law, taxing and regulating the running of saloons, was sustained by Judge Brannan in an important decision rendered in the case of J. J. Feeney vs. Scott County and J. B. Frahm, treasurer. The plaintiff contested the collection of $600 annual tax on two grounds, first, that the tax is a penalty or fine only to be imposed after trial and proof of guilt, and second, that the local municipality in not enforcing the police regulations of the law had waived the right to collect the tax. The court decided for the defendant on both points, and the case will be appealed. The case was brought by the Liberal league of Iowa to test the law.

May Secede from L. A. W.

Albany, N. Y., June 6.—As the result of growing dissatisfaction with the racing board of the League of American Wheelmen steps were taken last night which may result in the formation of a new league of wheelmen, with the special object of promoting racing throughout the country. The L. A. W., Mr. Eck, the manager of John S. Johnson, the rider recently suspended by the L. A. W., says, is an excellent institution for road improvements and matters that pertain to cycling, but it can no longer successfully manage or control the racing men of the country. The dissatisfaction, he said, was widespread. The meeting finally concluded that the time was not yet ripe for seceding, and appointed a committee to see the cycle meet promoters and the cycle board of trade. The impression prevailed that the whole matter of whether riders be allowed race for cash prizes lies with the manufacturers of wheels. The next meeting of the league will be in New York city during the state division meet.

SHOOK FLORENCE UP AND PEOPLE PRAYEDSTRONG EARTHQUAKE SHOCK
CREATED A PANIC.

Citizens Rushed Into the Streets and Fell Upon Their Knees—Prospect of an Uprising in Syria as Bedouins Demand the Release of Men Accused.

Constantinople, June 6.—Advices received here from Jiddah, Arabia, a seaport of Mecca and the scene of the recent murderous assault on the consular officers of Great Britain, Russia and France, announce that a panic prevails there and that it is feared the Bedouins will attack the town. The latter are held responsible for the attack upon the consuls which resulted in the death of the British vice-consul, and a number of them were arrested in consequence.

This has caused an angry feeling among the Bedouins, who demand the release of those apprehended and threaten to use force if their demand is not complied with. The situation is so serious that the Europeans of Jiddah are hastily seeking refuge on board the merchant vessels in the harbor. It is also stated in the advices from Jiddah that the arrival there of the British Mediterranean squadron, numbering seventeen warships of various classes, is anxiously awaited even by the Turkish authorities, as the garrison is very weak.

In addition to the arrest of those supposed to have been connected with the assault of the foreign consuls with the has been aroused by the quarantine measures which the Turkish government has been compelled to adopt at Mecca, at the instance of the powers, in order to prevent the introduction of cholera into northern ports.

The envoys of Great Britain, Russia and France in this city are awaiting instructions from their governments in regard to the situation of affairs at Jeddah, as well as regarding the refusal of the Turkish government to agree to the reforms in Armenia which have been proposed by the powers. In this connection the situation of affairs is unchanged. The port's reply, however, is regarded as a momentary success for the military party. On the other hand, the policy of Turkey in this matter is criticised by the Ottoman statesmen, who regard the port's action as disastrous to Turkey.

Long, of Michigan, which has been before the local courts in one form or another for some time, was finally determined yesterday by the court of appeals, the commissioner of pensions coming out victorious, though the probabilities are that the case will be taken to the Supreme court of the United States. The court of appeals holds that a pension is not a vested right except in a very limited sense, as shown by the act of Dec. 21, 1893; that the courts cannot interfere in matters of this kind and that the commissioner of pensions had a perfect right to review the acts of his predecessors.

Washington, June 6.—Those who are informed on the Washington situation expect that ex-Judge Thomas A. Moran of Chicago will succeed Attorney-General Olney when Mr. Olney assumes the duties of secretary of state. It is pointed out that Mr. Gresham was practically a Chicago appointment, and that, although the President may not see fit to make a Chicagoan secretary of state, he is pretty sure to reserve a place in the cabinet for Chicago. To-day the ten days of official mourning for W. Q. Gresham expires, and by evening it is probable his successor will be named. An evening paper here declares that Mr. Olney has been officially appointed and announced, but this is not a fact.

Chicago, June 6.—The drainage channel is not to be a ship canal. That point was settled by the trustees of the drainage district at an adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon. The board instructed the president and clerk to sign a contract with the Pennsylvania railroad company by which the company, without condemnation proceedings, permits the trustees to dig the channel underneath its four tracks at Campbell avenue in consideration that they shall erect for the tracks a permanent bridge without draw or opening of any kind. The contract makes no provision for the substitution of a swing-bridge or draw-bridge at any future time.

A courier from Dunk, who has just joined the Egeria forces, says the entire population of Williams Park has started across country for the Elk Head rendezvous.

QUEER WORDS USED BY THE DOCTORS

THE HOMEOPATHS TALK OF SERUM "AN' SICH."

President's Address Delivered By Dr. Joseph Lewis of Milwaukee
Last Evening—Dr. Mary Lane and Dr. Q. O. Sutherland Read Papers
Today—Balance of the Program.

Of course everybody enjoys hearing
"Observations and Conclusions From Personal Experience."
They're always interesting.

But—
When they deal with surgery, etc., that's different.
And "Essentials of Materia Medica Pura."

Of course we're all in favor of that.

Likewise "Blood Serum Therapy."
That is one subject that the average person understands perfectly.

Members of the Wisconsin State Homeopathic Medical society are reveling in this sort of thing at the Hotel Myers just at present.
The thirty-first annual meeting convened last evening and the first number on the program was the address of the president, Joseph Lewis, M. D. of Milwaukee. Dr. Lewis said that the physical ills of the human race began with its existence and told of the early treatments by means of charms, amulets, etc., saying that such ideas had not all been exploded yet. Flood letting, he continued, was said to have been resorted to at the siege of Troy. He sketched the development of medicine from that time to the present day and his audience evidently enjoyed hearing about Aesculapius, the Greek god of medicine, the gentleman who was killed with a thunderbolt by Zeus because Pluto said that Hades was becoming depopulated. Hippocrates, Galen, who wrote five hundred medical books; Venallus, the Belgian, who was the author of that famous work "De Corporis Human Fabrica Libri Septam;" Eustachius, the gentleman for whom the "Eustachian tube" was named and whose "Tabulae Anatom-icae" was published in 1714, and other ancient healers, very much.

Dr. Lewis, while he made a strong plea for homeopathy, said that they should adopt all new appliances, etc., as they came out, otherwise homeopathy and the patient would suffer.

THE COUNTY BOARD ADJOURNS.

Considerable Business Was Transacted
Before They Quit Last Evening.

Before adjourning last evening, the county board of supervisors, on motion of Supervisor Egerton, appointed a special committee consisting of Simon Smith and Robert More, with instructions to confer with the state board of equalization for Rock county and that the committee continue in force until the meeting of the county board in 1896.

Supervisors Killam and Smith, the committee appointed by the old board to represent the county before the state board of equalization, reported that on May 20 the committee visited Madison and laid the matter before said board. "Although they were not in session we were assured by one of the members that the valuation of this county should not be raised without first notifying the county board and giving them an opportunity to be heard.
They would give no encouragement that any reduction could be secured this year, as many of the northern counties that were devastated by drouth and fire last fall are asking a reduction in their valuation this year, and your committee are of the opinion under these circumstances, that if the county and state valuation remain the same proportion this year as last, it should be all we could reasonably expect." The report was adopted.

Supervisor Kimball, of the committee on public buildings, brought up the matter of providing additional vault room for the county court and clerk of the circuit court, submitting the plans for an annex to the northeast corner of the present building.
On motion of Supervisor Kimball, the chair appointed Supervisors Vankirk, Cram and Wilder to act with the building committee in perfecting the plans.

On motion of Supervisor More the county clerk was directed to purchase two maps of the city of Janesville, one for the register of deeds and one for the county clerk's office.

THE SUPREME COURT JUDGMENT

Ruling of the Justices in the Warner By Guardian vs. Cuckoo Case.

In the case of Clara B. Warner by George Hanthorn her guardian, plaintiff vs. S. J. Cuckoo, defendant, tried in the circuit court of Rock county and a verdict rendered for the defendant, and which was appealed to the supreme court of Wisconsin, the following is the judgment handed down from the supreme court:

"Statement of Facts." Winslow Justice. Practically the only question on this appeal is whether the findings sustain the judgment, and the merest reading of them is sufficient to show that they do sustain it.
We say this is the only question, because the exceptions are too general in their nature to raise any other question. Each of the findings excepted to, except perhaps the 6th, 8th, and 10th findings contain a number of propositions of fact, some of which are undisputed, or clearly established by the evidence, and in such case a wholesale exception is of no avail.
As to the 6th, 9th and 10th findings, examination of the record shows them all to be well proven by ample evidence. The 7th finding with the account, which is a part of it, really contains the substance and gist of the whole case. No item of this account is objected to, or excepted to, either especially or at large, and hence it cannot be examined or disturbed.
Carroll vs. Little 73 Wis 52.

We may say that in addition that a perusal of the testimony in the case convinces us that the judgment of the trial court was eminently just.

By the Court, Judgment Affirmed.

SMILEY-DILLENBECK WEDDING.

Ceremony Performed Last Evening at the Home of the Bride's Parents.

While four score and ten guests looked on and while a handsome floral wedding bell nodded above their heads, Miss Mae E. Dillenberg and John A. Smiley, were united in mari-monies holy bonds last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Dillenberg, 126 Milton avenue, Rev. Dr. Hodge of the Baptist church officiating. Miss Chessie Smiley, a sister of the groom and Henry Dillenberg brother of the bride acted as bridesmaid and groomsmen, while Mrs. H.
D. Murdoch played the wedding march. Following the ceremony and after the assembled company had extended their congratulations, a wedding feast was served by G. A.
Shurtleff.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dillenberg and is a young lady who is deservedly popular with a large circle of friends, all of whom say that to know is to love her.
The esteem in which she is held was voiced more eloquently than by words through the medium of the presents bestowed upon her by the guests. The groom is the son of the late Hon. John Smiley of Orfordville, and makes his home at Chippewa Falls, where he is in the employ of the Wisconsin Central Railway. He is a young man of whom nothing but praise can be said and is an energetic, honest and thoroughly reliable young man. Both Mr. and Mrs. Smiley start out in life's journey with the hearty well wishes of a host of friends whose congratulations The Gazette is happy to voice.
After a few days devoted to visiting at Orfordville, Mr. and Mrs. Smiley will leave for Chippewa Falls, where they will make their future home. Among the guests present from abroad were Mrs. John Smiley, of Orfordville, mother of the groom; Mrs. W. J. Hawk and daughter, of Buffalo, North Dakota, sister of the groom; and Eva Mills and Emily Henderson, of Barabo.

THE TOWN TALK OF A DAY.

A good shoe will always bring a lot of customers. That's why our store is crowded everyday with so many people eager to get the best shoes there is at 50 cents on the dollar.
Just half factory price, not whole factory price with 40 to 50 cents a pair added. Becker & Woodruff.

The ladies of this city know that when Bort Bailey & Co. put their signature under an advertised bargain, that it is something worthy of their prompt attention. Now this lot of wash goods at 61 cents that we offer for Friday and Saturday is a bargain that will please you and make you know that we are still working for your trade. Bort Bailey & Co.

A good shoe is one of the most desirable articles known to man. We have ever had the reputation of selling the best shoes made and fitting the feet the best; and we are maintaining that reputation more than ever, and selling the shoes to you at 50 cents on the dollar. Becker &
Woodruff.

TODAY our large advertisement is changed but it reads again in regard to the same thing "buckboards." These are the popular articles now for the youngsters, and a suit of clothes goes with each one. Frank H.
Baack.

CAN'T be headed off, no difference how hard you may try. We've the people coming our way; and they can't be stopped, because they know to a positive certainty that we are selling the best shoes ever turned out of a factory, at 30 cents on the dollar of factory cost. Becker & Woodruff.

It is an easy thing to mark goods up and sell at 50 cents on the dollar, and try and fool the people, but they are getting use to it. We can sell people goods easier after they have looked at such places and compared values.

pure malt and hops, can be found only at M. M. Farley's, No. 10 Midway.

boy any better than to let him have one of those "buckboards." It will cost you nothing and besides you will get a nice suit of clothes. Frank H.
Baack.

We have too many ladies' low shoes,
Prince Alberts and oxfords, in black and tan goods and will make you lower prices than any other shoe store in the city. Lloyd & Son.

Patriotic Citizens Will Hoist The Stars and Stripes On June 18.

The patriotic people of Riverview Park will soon live under the stars and stripes in fact as well as in theory and the "raising" will be made a regu-from the staff on the summer house in the park and Tuesday evening, June 18, has been named as the date of its dedication. The Young Men's Christian association will take part and the Y. M. C. A. band will furnish the music, a committee from that organization having been appointed to look after things as follows: W. E. Clinton, W. S. Jeffris and H. J. Cunningham. George L. Carrington will be the "director general" and following the exercises ice cream will be served, the proceeds to be given to the Y. M.

C. A. The flag was bought by the citizens of that vicinity, each of whom contributed their share to the fund and it is a handsome banner five by

JANESVILLE WILL BE REPRESENTED.

Quite a List of Names Are Now On File With F. A. Spoon Who Will Answer All Inquiries In Regard to the Trip—S. L. Mershon to Lecture.

Thirty-two names of Janesville people are now enrolled on Frank A.
Spoon's list of those who are going to attend the meeting of the Wisconsin Christian Endeavor Union at Boston.
The trip is a delightful one and any one wishing to go can see Mr. Spoon at King & Skelly's store on Wednesday evenings or by dropping a postal card to him he will tell them all about the plans made. The route selected is by regular trains in Wisconsin on C. & N. W., Wis. Central, and C. M. & St. P. R. R.'s. fitted with special Endeavor cars to Chicago.
By special trains of Pullman sleeping cars, via Chicago & Grand Trunk Railways, from Chicago to Montreal, Canada, passing through the longest submarine tunnel in the world at Port Huron, reaching Toronto in the afternoon, and the shores of the picturesque St. Lawrence River, viewing the Thousand Islands by moonlight. From Montreal, via Central Vermont R. R., through St. Albans and White River Junction, through the Green Mountains into New Hampshire, the Switzerland of America;
thence via the Boston and Maine R.
R. to the Hub of the universe.

The special Wisconsin Endeavor train will leave the Chicago & Grand Trunk station, Dearborn street, Monday evening, July 8, on the arrival of the Wisconsin state trains, reaching Boston not later than 2 p. m. Wednesday, July 10, giving ample time to locate delegates before the convention opens.

The rate, which includes railroad fare from Chicago to Boston and return, is $19. This is $3 below the standard lines, which difference will be maintained should the standard lines lower their rate. This guarantees to Wisconsin Endeavors as low a rate as will be made to Boston. We expect a rate of one fare for round trip within the state. The sleeping car rate from Chicago to Boston, one way, will be $5.50 for double berth.

Each section of the special train will be equipped with a buffet or lunch car. Regular meals will be served en route, costing members of the party not to exceed fifty cents.

Young's Hotel, one of the best in Boston, has been secured as Wisconsin's hotel headquarters. The rate at this hotel for room is $1 a day each, two or more in a room. Accommodations have been secured for a hundred or more at the Hawthorne, of Beacon Hill, at seventy-five cents for room, twenty-five cents for breakfast, thirty-five cents for 6 o'clock dinner. These places are within five minutes walk of Boston Common and fifteen minute walk of the Convention Halls. The average rate for board and lodging in private families will not exceed $1.50 per day. For room only, fifty and seventy-five cents.

The limit (up to this date) requires the leaving of New England by July 31, on the return trip. Provision has been made for those desiring to return by other roads at rates which may be obtained by applying to the committee. Those returning by the Grand Trunk may stop over at Montreal and Niagara Falls without extra cost.
Side trips of interest are being arranged by the committee in Boston.

It is necessary that the committee know as early as possible how many intend taking the trip, and what hotel accommodations are desired, that the comfort of all may be provided for.

—THE—

THE DAFFODILS.

And then my heart with pleasure fills
And dances with the daffodils.
—Wordsworth.

Oh, the laughter of the lilies in the sun!
Purer joy and deeper gladness there is none;
When they hear my lady's feet,
As she hastens the sun to greet,
How they shake with golden laughter every one!

Oh, the laughing—oh, the dancing daffodils!
Shaking in the breeze
Under budding trees
By the lake that lies below the silent hills.

Oh, the trooping of the lilies on the sward
Golden trumpet, saffron surcoat, spear and sword,
Knight and squire with waving crest,
Waiting for my lady's best,
To achieve some daring deed she may applaud.
Oh, the laughter—oh, the dancing daffodils!
Shaking in the breeze
Under budding trees
By the lake that lies below the silent hills.

Oh, the silence of the lilies as they pray,
When the night mist steals up softly from the bay,
And my lady's name is there,
In the solemn vesper prayer,
As the twilight on the hillside dies away!
Oh, the laughing—oh, the dancing daffodils!
Shaking in the breeze
Under budding trees
By the lake that lies below the silent hills.
—T. Bruce Dicks in Temple Bar.

THE SPIDER'S WEB.

Rosy complexioned and in her fresh spring toilet, she was truly beautiful. Under her long silky lashes her azure eyes had a soft caressing light that illumined her face with kindness. The form, though somewhat slender, was well modeled, and the lines of the neck set off all the attractiveness of a head encircled by a profusion of blond locks.

This was the beautiful and graceful Paoletta, Giorgio's young wife. In a carriage the newly wedded pair were proceeding rapidly along the sun filled river bank, thinking of some way of employing the day.

The carriage paused to allow them to admire the flowers upon a spur of the incline, where the vines, like wild nests, stretched from distance to distance, half concealed by the trees.

"Do you wish to go up there?" asked Paoletta.

She pointed with her delicate hand, from which she had drawn her glove, to the heights of Bellevue.

"For what?" Giorgio asked.

"We might see a house that would suit us—you know we ought to be looking for one," said Paoletta. "We can inquire at the inn."

Giorgio hesitated.

"What of our journey to St. Cloud?" he asked.

"Let it be postponed for awhile."

He did not answer immediately. Finally he said half reluctantly: "As you will. It really makes no difference where we live so long as we are together."

She looked at him brightly, and they descended from the carriage and took their way toward the bank of the Seine. The inn was deserted.

"Let us mount into that little balcony," she said. "There is a fine view from there."

"As you please."

Soon the sun shone less brightly, for a space shone pallid, then vanished. Great clouds heaped themselves up about them, rapid and compact. A strong wind blew, and large drops of water began to fall.

Where should they take refuge?

"There!" said Paoletta.

With her hand she indicated a cottage, upon the threshold of which an old woman stood.

Giorgio suddenly blushed crimson, but accompanied his wife in silence.

"It is for rent; it can be looked over," said the woman, who hoped to find tenants in this handsome young couple.

Giorgio did not respond, but while Paoletta examined the apartments he regarded with interest this slight, box-like construction, so simply made.

As soon as his wife called him he entered the house. A vision of the past rose in his mind. He saw the garden, the arbor, the honeysuckle and ivy, now nothing more than a mass of green foliage, under which was hidden a little bench covered with moss and gone to decay. A marble dove, blackened by moisture, had been for long years the sole spectator of this devastation.

"It is ten years since the house was left tenantless," prattled the old woman. "The proprietor, who was eccentric, did not wish to let it. But now he is dead, and I have been directed to have a card put up. The necessary repairs will be made."

Paoletta laughed aloud with happy, childlike pleasure.

"Are you willing to rent this house, Giorgio?" she asked.

"The air might be too bracing for you, my dear."

"But not more so than everywhere in the country," put in the old woman. "Besides, the rent is so little—400 francs a year."

"It is very reasonable," said Paoletta. "I shall be delighted to live here. Come, let us visit the rooms. I am charmed with the whole place."

He followed her, examined some apartments decorated with gray paper and red flowers, looked into the dining hall with windows looking upon the Seine, and as he glanced about all the past returned to his memory. No longer was it Paoletta who was before him, but Chiara, the girl he had first loved, and whom he had often seen seated in this little hermitage to which he had by chance returned.

He had lost her while the cup of love was still full. But he forgot her in time and married the pretty Paoletta, whom he loved. Yet frequently when with her a shadow passed before him—the shadow of a young and lovely woman.

A week later found them settled in the cottage. The outdoor life was a great benefit to Paoletta, who had been something of an invalid. It was arranged that they should pass the winter in the country.

Every day Giorgio went to business in the city, leaving Paoletta alone. The young wife, busy with her new cares, was happy and contented. She adored music and played a great deal in her hours of solitude.

By and by she noticed that a large spider came out of his lurking place to listen to her. Joined by a long and slender thread to the back of a mirror, he got himself well in evidence upon a decorated cornice, with his keen eyes, his long legs and remained immovable, as if hypnotized by the soft harmonies of Chopin.

Paoletta gradually ceased to fear him. But when to this great spider were added several others she resolved to remove this large family, domesticated no doubt for a number of years. She called in a carpenter to take down the mirror, laughing to see the tribe scampering.

Suddenly she uttered a cry of surprise. Wrapped up in a net, invested with a great mass of cobwebs, a letter sealed with black fell from behind the mirror.

The workman, no less surprised than the young lady, presented the letter to Paoletta, who took it, trembling. On the outside she read:

"To be delivered to Signor Giorgio Dorsal after my death."

The young wife's heart beat fast. This letter was directed to her husband. What could it contain?

"It must have been written a long time ago," said the workman.

"It is directed to my husband," responded Paoletta. The man smiled musingly.

"A letter from a woman," he thought. Should she burn this letter unopened? What might it contain? Should she give it to Giorgio?

No, no; certainly not.

After a long time she broke the seal, and this is what she read:

"My dear Giorgio, I am sick and sad. The house is a prison. I seem to find in it something tragical, leading to revenge and death."

"Although it is ended, completely ended, do not doubt but we shall see each other again. Is our love to endure but one season? Do you not remember your oath of eternal fidelity?"

"I have not forgotten and have returned to our nest. Now I would like to die, surrounded by the things you care for."

"I have re-entered this room, filled with tokens of your love. That reclining chair has seated you frequently, when, returning from a long excursion in the woods, I came to rest my head against your knees, while you touched the brown locks which fell over my forehead. I have reviewed all that year of happiness day by day and only desire to die in this house where you and I have loved."

Paoletta gave a loud cry and fell to the floor. When she returned to her senses, the sun had set, the day was slowly departing, the horizon, tinted with purple, forming a luminous garland. Nothing was changed in the life of the world about her. There was the same azure sky, the same strident shriek of the railway train, the hilarious shouts of the children released from school.

Was what had passed a dream, some strange fancy? No, the letter was there at her feet. It recalled her to reality. It was true—all was true! And suddenly she felt within her heart an enormous weight, and upon her shoulders something laid almost insupportable.

She remained for a long time motionless and silent, making a thousand projects. Then gradually her nerves gave way and tears flowed from her eyes.

When Giorgio returned, he found her calm, but a little nervous.

Several days passed, then Paoletta took to her bed.

A malady which had not been able to carry her to the tomb a year before reappeared. The physician announced that all was over; she would not outlast the fall of the leaves.

She treated Giorgio with coldness, of which she gave no explanation. He attended her, watched over her, supplicated her to tell him why she had changed, but she remained silent, and her calmness made him almost insane.

One morning she said to him: "You will return early today, will you not, Giorgio?"

He bent over her, kissing her tenderly.

"Yes, my darling," he said.

That evening, when he returned, she was dead. She held in her rigid hands a letter—the letter of Chiara. In pencil she had added these words:

"I am jealous of this woman, and of jealousy die. Adieu Giorgio!"—From the Italian.

Women's Editions.

In speaking of the fate of women's editions of newspapers, The Kingston Freeman says: "It is remarkable that this kind of enterprise is confined to newspapers. Why not let the Bricklayers' union run a big hotel one day for the benefit of charity? Or the West Shore railroad might be turned over to the Y. M. C. A. for a day. It would be interesting to let the W. C. T. U. take charge of a bank for one day and show how it ought to be run. Then there is an opportunity for some pastor to let a half dozen newspaper men manage his church for a week or so, just to let people see what they would do. Another good idea would be for a watchmaker to turn over his shop to the Horse-shoers' association. In fact, there is no limit to these schemes and this ought to be a big year for charities of all kinds."

The Usual Mistake.

The officer had arrested a prisoner for drunkenness, and the judge, for some reason dismissed him the officer not being present when the case was called. Later he met the late prisoner on the street.

"Hello!" he exclaimed in astonishment. "What are you doing out here?"

"On my way home," smiled the prisoner.

"How did you get out?"

"The judge discharged me."

"How did that happen?"

"I don't know," and the offender smiled again. "I guess he didn't know I was loaded."—Detroit Free Press.

TOLD OF WARD M'ALLISTER.

Story of the Separation of His Wife and His Oldest Son.

The story, according to an old society woman, is this: Soon after the marriage of Ward McAllister he and his bride went abroad and took up a year's residence in Paris. Here they entertained and lived very magnificently. They were extremely popular, and when the little Ward appeared on the scene he was made the recipient of numerous gifts and was treated like a baby of royalty. His mother was passionately devoted to him, giving up society for him, and not even allowing the nurses to touch him when her own care could take the nurse's place. But the young wife was not strong. Soon her health began to weaken under the strain of the care of the boy, and, after a consultation, the Parisian doctors said that the two must be separated and the mother travel in Italy for her health or she would die. Immediately Ward McAllister began making preparations for the trip. But to his surprise his wife refused to be separated from the child. Poor mothers took care of their children, why could not she? And she knew that prepared French food would kill him—that was the secret of it all. Finally a desperate scene was gone through with. And the wife was carried off forcibly to Italy, while the baby returned on the steamer with his nurse to make a visit to an uncle and aunt on the Pacific coast. But before the separation Mrs. McAllister made this vow: "If you take the child away now I will never look upon him again." And she has kept that vow to this day—now forty years. That is the story as the clubmen and older society women tell it, says a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun. Possibly there is but little foundation for it to rest upon. Fearing for the future of the son, the gossip goes on to say, he had saved money for him and used all his enormous social influences for him. Once he dined a certain western railroad magnate on consideration that he would give Ward, Jr., the counsel work for his western roads. The son occasionally visits New York.

Mr. A. H. Grunsky, of No. 153 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., writes that his wife had cancer which had eaten two large holes in her breast, and which the best physicians of the surrounding country treated, and pronounced incurable. Her grandmother and aunt had died of and when told this, the most eminent specialists of New York, under whose treatment she was placed, declared her case was hopeless. All treatment having failed, she was given up to die. S. S. E. was recommended, and astonishing as it may seem, a few bottles cured her sound and well.

Our treatise on this disease will be sent free to any address.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1632—Ludovico Giovanni Ariosto, Italian poet, died in Ferrara; born 1474.
 1776—Nathan Hale, martyr of liberty, born in Coventry, Conn.; executed in New York city Sept. 22, 1776.
 1790—Patrick Henry died; born 1736.
 1812—James Lawrence, naval officer, died on the Chesapeake; his last words, "Don't give up the ship."
 1844—The Young Men's Christian association founded in London.
 1861—Comte Camillo Barso de Cavour, statesman, died in Turin; born there 1810. Cavour more than any other man is credited with having achieved the unity of Italy. He was of noble family, trained to arms. Turning his attention to politics, he opposed the church and Austrian aggression, made an alliance with Napoleon III, won victories which were decisive and held the radical elements in check.
 1862—Remarkable naval battle in the Mississippi at Memphis; the action was opened by wooden rams and finished by ironclads on the Union side.
 1891—Sir John Macdonald, premier of Canada, died; born 1815.

POLITICAL EDUCATION.

The last campaign was called an educational campaign. The public generally was supposed to be solving grave questions of political economy, and democracy was the self-appointed instructor. Glowing pictures of tariff reform and the world's open markets were painted by orators of high and low degree, until the country was a vast art gallery of radiant vision. The "change" so much discussed, and so earnestly desired, assumed proportions, and when it came, a feeling of satisfaction was experienced by the great mass of voters who contributed so enthusiastically to the experimental scheme. It always seems unkind to say, "I told you so," and yet the results of the great tidal wave have been so disastrous, that the respectable minority, who remained loyal to the republican party, have occasion to congratulate themselves, that they were not carried away by democratic lunacy. The retrospect of the campaign after two years of sober experience proves beyond question, that what at the time was termed educational, was simply a craze, a weakness, for which the American people are justly noted. The silver mania, just now sweeping over the country like a whirlwind, is of similar character, but fortunately it will exhaust itself, before serious damage is accomplished. The real education, like all knowledge of value, comes with experience, and for two years the country has tested the fallacies of democratic reform. The verdict, north, south, east and west is a unit of dissatisfaction and the next campaign will witness one of the most complete defeats that any political party of prominence ever experienced. While the American people are enthusiastic, and sometimes permit their zeal to run away with good judgment, yet they are noted for not repeating mistakes, and it is very evident that the country will profit by the last political venture.

A mutilated 50 cent piece of American vintage, is worth today in the American market 20 cents. About the same proportion as a trade dollar containing eight grains more silver than the standard dollar, and yet there are people who want this kind of metal coined in unlimited quantity.

Norway with a population of 200,000 has a bonded debt of $18,000,000. The little kingdom is hopelessly insolvent, as the revenues, are far below the expenditures, the loan recently secured only brings temporary relief.

Cheap goods to American workmen out of employment, are only an aggravation. Plenty of work and good prices for American products, is the secret of the nation's success.

The surplus that was such a menace to the country, when democracy gained control is succeeded by a deficiency that is not pleasant to discuss.

Governor Altgeld, the notorious Illinois statesman, has contributed to his debased record a speech on 16 to 1 free silver.

Free wool may be a blessing to England, but what is it worth to this country?

BRIEF BITS OF LOCAL NEWS

ALL wool and a yard wide is exactly the description of our trade these days. Never in the history of our successful business have we found it easier to sell reliable shoes than now. Within a period of one year we have bought three stocks of shoes, all nearly new and first-class goods. We bought them very cheap and our constantly increasing trade proves to us that our efforts are appreciated. We buy right and sell right. That's the secret of our success. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

MANY folks have an idea that cheap goods sold cheap makes a prosperous merchant. We have never figured it that way. A cheap dinner at a cheap price might possibly fill you up but the question is if that sublime satisfaction of a good dinner would ever be realized out of a fifteen cent meal were it supplemented with the foaming lager beer. You want good shoes, we are dealing only in that kind. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

Mrs. E. L. ABBEY of Chicago, a noted food specialist, will give a series of exhibitions in Janesville, commencing at Ball & Bates' Saturday, June 8. Perfection Baking Powder and Extras and high grade coffee will be used, and choice lunches will be served. The ladies of the city are cordially invited to call at Ball & Bates' and test the goods.

We are told almost every day by some satisfied patron that with all the boasting, blowing and bluff, now so popular that quality for quality, and price for price, we are knocking all the wind bags gally west. We "Karlukate" that no concern on earth shall make lower prices than we do, for the same quality of goods. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

It may be imposing on good nature to talk to you any more about the shoes we are selling at 50 cents on the dollar, but they are so fine, and such great values that we can't keep it. We know they are the best the world ever produced, and we want you to have some of them. Becker & Woodruff.

THE JOURNEY OF LIFE IS ENDED

Martha Wallace.
 Died, at half past seven last evening, Martha Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wallace, 50 N. Main street, in the twentieth year of her age. She had been in the employ of Richardson & Norcross shoe factory until about four months ago, when dropsy set in and though she was attended by the best medical skill, nothing could avert the disease from attacking her heart.

Few families have suffered so much intense sorrow in so short a time. Within three years death has visited this family four times. Only a few days ago their grandson was buried, making five in all tomorrow. Their numerous friends and acquaintance deeply sympathize with them and hope that they may be spared from further trials and sorrow. The funeral will be held at St. Patrick's church tomorrow at 9:30 o'clock.

Fred August Bluhm.
 Fred August Bluhm died at an early hour this morning at his home 305 South Academy street, of hemorrhage of the stomach, aged fifty seven years. He had resided in Janesville twelve years, and leaves a wife and three children, August Bluhm of Germany, Mrs. Ferdinand Hell of 254 Cherry street, and Albert Bluhm, who resides with his parents, to mourn his death. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at the home at 2 o'clock, and from St. Paul's church at 2:30 o'clock. The interment will be in Oak hill.

In the Chair.
 "A man in my profession," remarked the dentist, "must be careful in selecting his assistants."
 "I shouldn't think they had much to do with it," said a listener.
 "Well, they do," continued the dentist. "I remember I had one once who had been working in a photograph gallery, and the first patient he had to handle was the crankiest and most nervous old chap in town. I never thought about what he was going to do, and simply told him to arrange the patient in the chair. He did it, and then he said as he stepped away: 'Now look pleasant,' and, by Jove, the old fellow bounced out and never came back."—Detroit Free Press.

Ouida In Poverty.

All of Ouida's property was recently sold in Italy to pay her numerous debts, and it is alleged that the eccentric writer is practically without means. The real name of the novelist is Louisa de la Rame, and Ouida is a childish pronunciation of her name. She was born at Bury St. Edmunds, England, in 1840, and is of English extraction. Her first novel was written at the age of 20 years and was such a success financially that the young author soon found her work in great demand. She received $3,000 for her first novel, and it is said that she has been paid from $7,000 to $15,000 for each of the numerous novels she has since published. Her prolific pen has turned out 35 or 40 novels, and it is declared that she has made at least $250,000 as a writer.

when he was a mere lad. He served through the war and retired with the rank of captain, after which he embarked in the whisky business in Chicago and later removed to his present home in Peoria. He was one of the organizers of the Whisky trust, and after the death of Adolph Woolner became the controlling spirit in the great monopoly. He dictated its entire policy, and fortunes were made or lost at his word.

In Memory of Chancellor Kent.

When he wrote his commentaries on American law, James Kent reared a lasting monument to his memory, but a grateful country is to further honor him by placing his statue in the new Congressional library in Washington. James Kent was born at Fredericks, Putnam county, N. Y., July 31, 1763. He was admitted to the bar in 1785 and soon took front rank as a lawyer. He served three terms in the legislature, was several years professor of law in Columbia college and 16 years justice of the New York supreme court. In 1814 he was appointed chancellor of New York state, and during his nine years of service laid the foundation of equity jurisprudence in the United States.

CHANCELLOR KENT'S STATUE.

NO CASH "TIPS" FOR WOMEN.

They Get Only Smiles and Smirks from Men at Restaurants.

In restaurants where women are employed as waiters the average man seems to be of the opinion that smiles or smirks are tantamount to "tips," although they cost the giver nothing and have no cash value anywhere, except, perhaps, as elements to be considered in estimating damages in breach of promise suits, says the New York Herald. Why a man should consider it more or less obligatory on him to give a gratuity to the man who waits upon him, be he white or colored, while his conscience relieves him of all such obligations when a woman performs a similar service for him, is one of those mysteries which the feminine mind is incapable of solving. I have conversed with several "waitresses" on the subject, and they have always told me that they would infinitely prefer dimes to smiles, more especially as their pay is so small that the problem of making both ends meet is for them a particularly hard one. It may be said in defense of masculine custom in this matter that the conduct of the recipients of these amatory demonstrations would justify the opinion that they prefer them to small pecuniary emoluments, but the cruel fact is that the girl employed in a restaurant who doesn't act more or less as a flirt stands no chance of retaining her position. A complaint of a customer's familiarity, instead of causing him to be rebuked, would more likely result in her own dismissal. It isn't alone for waiting that she is paid. She is expected to make herself "attractive." There are many men of an economical turn of mind whose patronage of restaurants where women are employed is largely due to the fact that at such places they can refrain from "tipping" without being suspected of meanness. And a dime saved is 20 cents earned. But, all the same, a woman who waits on table in a restaurant is just as much entitled to a "tip" as a man, and the fact that she doesn't get it is only another link in the chain of evidence which shows that the average man will always take advantage of a woman in pecuniary matters if he gets half a chance. That is to say, for doing the same thing he will always pay a woman less than he will a man.

Sick headache, constipation and indigestion are quickly cured by De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. C. D. Stevens.

B. H. Bowms: Pub. Enquirer, of Bremen, Ind., writes: Last week our little girl baby, the only one we have, was taken sick with croup. After two doctors failed to give relief and life was hanging on a mere thread, we tried One Minute Cough Cure, its life was saved. C. D. Stevens.

TAILOR

BOLLES, "The Tailor."

Too Delightful.
 "Isn't this perfectly delightful!" she asked, as they sat on the sofa with their arms intertwined and the brilliantine on his mustache not very far from the crimson balm on her lips.
 "Dorothy," he replied, "when I know that your mother is listening on the stairs, that your father is waiting in the passage with a cane, that the bulldog is loose in the front yard and that your little brother is under the sofa, how can I say that it is delightful?"—London Tit-Bits.

Not Too Ambitious.
 Mrs. Westside—Tommy, your pants are all worn out.

Tommy—Yes, that comes from my having to move down all the time in my class, but it's all right now. I am at the foot of the class, and I am going to stay there, so there will be no more wear and tear on my pants, scraping up and down on the bench.—Texas Siftings.

A Radical Change.
 First Employer—I hear you have yielded to the demand for eight hours' work at ten hours' pay. How can you afford it?
 Second Employer—You see, my men promised to work, while they are at it, instead of standing around and chattering about capital and labor.—N. Y. Weekly.

Understood the Ruse.
 Mr. Ennecott—There's a lot of steamer trunks piled out conspicuously in front of Mrs. Slimpocket's house waiting for the expressman. What does that mean?
 Mrs. Ennecott (with scorn)—It means that she's going down to her uncle's farm to spend the summer.—Chicago Record.

Fashion's Penalties.
 Mr. Billus—Maria, how does it happen that Fanny isn't going to church with you this morning?
 Mrs. Billus—You know as well as I do, John, that when Bessie and Kate and I go to church somebody has got to stay at home. There isn't room for four pairs of sleeves in our pew.—Chicago Tribune.

A Keen One.
 Agent—Doctor, can I get your ad. for the Weekly Boomer?
 Doctor—Shocking, sir! Don't you know that it's most unprofessional for physicians to advertise? (On the q. t.) But you may interview me on some scientific specialty, two columns, non-pariel rates, check in advance.—Truth.

She Never Tried It.
 He—Miss Kitty, I've heard it said that a kiss without a mustache is like an egg without salt. Is that so?
 She—Well, really, I don't know—I can't tell—for in all my life I never—
 He—Now, now, Miss Kitty!
 She—Never ate an egg without salt.—Philadelphia Press.

The Horse's Hope.
 Young Horse—Nothing but work, work, work. I've a great mind to commit suicide.
 Old Horse—Have patience. When you are so old that you can't walk, you'll be advertised as suitable for a lady to drive, and after that you'll live in ease and luxury.—N. Y. Weekly.

In the Same Boat.
 The Pastor (a dyspeptic taking dinner with the family)—Thank you, Mrs. Brown. I'd like to have another piece of the pie, but I will have to say no.
 Willy Brown (in surprise)—Goodness me! Did your mother tell you not to take a second piece, too?—Puck.

'Twas Ever Thus.
 In matrimonial angling,
 Which every maid delights,
 'Tis often found the "catches"
 In the end are only bites.
 —Puck.

INDICTMENT DEFECTIVE.

Judge Biffbang (of Deadwood)—You are charged with shooting your revolver seven times into Rev. Amos Tweedledee. How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?
 Bronco Pete—Not guilty as charged in the indictment.
 Judge Biffbang—Not guilty, eh?
 Bronco Pete—Yes, judge; I may have shot seven bullets into the Rev. Amos, but I didn't shoot no revolver into him.—Judge.

Why He Proposed.
 "You wish me to be your wife? Why, I've known you only fifteen minutes."
 "That is true, but I wished to give one lady the opportunity of saying, truthfully: 'This is so sudden!'"—Texas Siftings.

Great News.
 Mrs. Hicks—You know the girl who screeches next door?
 Hicks—What has happened to her?
 Mrs. Hicks—Nothing; not a thing. She's to be married next month.—N. Y. World.

End of Mr. Jackson's Honeymoon.
 Mrs. Jackson—Rastus, dear, does yo' b'liebe in de survival ob de fittist?
 Mr. Jackson—Suttinly, love; suttinly.
 Mrs. Jackson—Wa-al, den, yo' bettah git yo' life insured termorrer.—Judge.

On Impulse.
 She—No, Mr. Blunderrre, I cannot entertain your proposal. The truth is—I am engaged to your father.
 He—Why, the old idiot!—Indianapolis Journal.

In Advance.
 "Don't you think the man who marries for money is a fool?" "He is, unless he gets it in advance."—Indianapolis Globe.

sarcasm.
 "This hasn't a sign of a clam in it," said the guest who had ordered clam chowder. "It's a swindle; that's what it is."
 "Excuse me, sir," responded the waiter, who is too good for that business, "but we only undertake to serve a chowder; not an aquarium."—Life.

An Amendment.
 Gasbag—Well, you see I am nominated. Don't you remember I said before the convention met it would be Gasbag or nobody?
 Unsuccessful Rival—Yes, I remember; but your prediction was a little off. It is Gasbag and nobody.—N. Y. Tribune.

Too Dull a Prospect.
 Impresario (engaging singer)—We will treat you with every consideration, madam, and I assure you you will have no one to quarrel with.
 Prima Donna (with decision)—Then I just won't take the engagement.—Chicago Record.

Like Father, Like Son.
 Deacon Denman—Mr. Jones, I'm sorry to tell you that I saw your boy fishing last Sabbath.
 Mr. Burnap—Confound the rascal! I thought it was strange I couldn't find my fishing-rod.—Judge.

Dr. H. R. Fish of Gravois Mills, Mo., a practicing physician of many years experience, writes: De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve has no equal for indolent sores, scalds and burns. It stops pain instantly, heals a burn quickly and leaves no scar. C. D. Stevens.

Saengerfest at Appleton.

J. A. Richardson, of Jefferson City, Mo., Chief Enrolling force 38th general assembly of Missouri, writes: I wish to testify to the merits of One Minute Cough Cure. When other so-called cures failed, I obtained a most instant relief and a speedy cure by the use of One Minute Cough Cure C. D. Stevens.

Mother Nature, Ever Fruitful
 In beneficence to mankind, has given birth to one which, developed by art, has been prodigious in health, yielding benefits to the race. No voyager, sea captain, commercial traveler, or tourist seeking pleasure and health, should fail to be self-provided with this grand botanic restorative and preventive, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which counteracts the effects of malarious air and brackish water, unwholesome, unvaried diet, exposure, the fatigue of travel, and the disturbance of the stomach caused by rough weather at sea, and sometimes by railway traveling over a rough road bed. Mariners, miners and western pioneers bear concurrent evidence to its defensive and reparative influence. Chills and fever, rheumatism, inactivity of the kidneys, biliousness, dyspepsia and nervousness, as all relieved by its incomparable fine alternative, corrective and invigorant, which physicians highly commend.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth,
 Be sure and use that old and well tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind, colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Where Prejudice Lay.
 An old negro being on trial, his lawyer challenged a number of the jury who, his client said, had a prejudice against him.
 "Are there any more jurymen who have a prejudice against you?" inquired the lawyer. "No, sah, de jury am all right, but I want to challenge de judge."—The Green Bag.

Somewhat Exaggerated.
 Rev. John Smith—You were at church last Sunday, Mr. Amsterdam.
 Pete Amsterdam—Yes, and I was carried away completely by your sermon. I never heard anything more eloquent in my life. I have been saying to all my friends that there is only one John Smith in the world.—Texas Siftings.

BETTER THAN A GOLD MINE.

Last month I cleared, after paying all expenses, $235.38; the month before $186.86 and have at the same time attended to my regular business. I believe anyone, anywhere, can do as well, as I have not a particularly good location and not much experience. When you have an article that every family wants, it is very easy selling it. It seems strange that a good, cheap dish washer was never before placed on the market. With the Perfection, which sells for $5 you can wash and dry the dishes for a family in two minutes, without putting the hands in water. As soon as people see the washer work, they want one, and that is why so much money can be made so quickly. For full particulars address The Perfection Mfg. Co. Station O, Englewood, Ill. I feel convinced that any lady or gentleman, in any location can make $5 to $10 a day, as every family will very soon have a dish washer. Try it and publish your experience for the benefit of others. ALICE O.

USED MACHINES TO VOTE.

The Myers Ballot Registers in an Eastern Election.

The annual city election took place here today, says a Mount Vernon, N. Y., dispatch. A supervisor, assessor and one alderman in each of the five wards were elected. Additional interest was added to this election by reason of the use of the Myers ballot machine. This is the first time that this machine has been used near New York city. There was great curiosity to see the thing and learn how it worked. There were ten of the machines used today in the five wards. The city owns seven of them, which it purchased for $450 each. The company loaned the city the three additional machines. The total registration for this election was 2,835, but the rain kept a good many away, and there was the usual number of stay at homes to keep the vote down. The polls opened at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the voting went on until 9 o'clock in the evening. The rate at which the voting was done in the forenoon at one election district was 150 an hour, and by actual count fifteen persons voted in seven minutes. They were allowed one minute to vote if they wished to consume so much time, but as there were only three persons to be voted for in any district—that is, for supervisor, assessor and one alderman—it did not take long to press the three knobs opposite the names the voter wished to support. The machine is a sheet steel cabinet, five feet square and seven feet high. It is lighted inside by a lamp or gas. The voter on entering the election place qualifies by giving his name and residence, and this is recorded and checked by the inspectors or clerks. He is then admitted inside the railing, and the inspector at the door of the machine admits him alone inside as soon as the last voter has passed out. A clock in front of the inspector then starts up to record the time he is inside, and stops when he comes out. The voter then sees before him perpendicular lines of party candidates. The democratic list was marked by yellow, the republican by red and the prohibition by blue. If he can read he has no difficulty in selecting the candidates' names. If he cannot read he has only to select the color of the list and push in the knobs opposite the names.

After he has done his voting he goes out by a different door from that by which he entered, and as he passes out the machine is automatically set for the next voter. When the last man has voted the machine has the result on each candidate footed up, so that it is only necessary to wait for the returns from the other districts to know how the election has gone.

THE TAJ MAHAL.

One of the Most Beautiful Memorial Structures in the World.

Near the city of Agra, in India, stands the Taj Mahal, or "Tomb of Mahal," a memorial structure erected by the Emperor Shan Jehan, in honor of his wife, Mahal, who died in 1629. For seventeen years the emperor gave his wealth and 20,000 workmen their labor to complete this magnificent tomb, the cost of which was $20,000,000. It is a square structure, and stands on a platform of marble 400 feet square. It has one great central dome and four corner domes, all of pure white marble, and its windows, too, are screens of white marble. The decorations consist of mosaics, engraved marbles, and agate and jasper ornaments. Every inch of the vast central dome, beneath which rest the bodies of the emperor and his wife, is covered with inscriptions, and prominent among them is the following in the Persian tongue:

"The world is a bridge; pass over it but build not upon it! The world is an hour; give its minutes to thy prayers, for the rest is unseen."

Because his wife had loved her garden with its beautiful flowers, the emperor caused this monument to her memory to be erected among bowers of roses and many sparkling, cooling fountains. Indeed, the gardens around the Taj are the perfection of Indian horticulture. "You look down grand avenues of trees and shrubbery, and the domes of the structure rise in their beautiful proportions, seeming to rest in the air and looking as if they would vanish in cloud."

Many travelers count it worth a trip to India just to see the Taj. It is best seen by day, when the sun, shining through the marble screens, sheds a soft radiance over all the inner shrine.

Tale of a Coat.

Here is the story of the travels of a coat. The garment is a mackintosh of a bright sand color. It was bought several months ago and at the time the money paid for it was worth a considerable sum to the young clerk who owned it. It wore dirty, however, after a few months and he had it cleaned and the tailor added to it cuffs and a collar of bright blue velvet. Soon afterward he sat down to a game of poker. He lost his money and sold the coat on credit to a fellow clerk for $4. The latter grew hard up a few weeks later and sold the coat to the office boy for $1.50 cash and an I. O. U. for $4.20. He spent the $1.50 and still owed $4 for the coat. One night he played poker with the original owner and won $2.45. Then he owed $1.55 for the mackintosh. The office boy still owed him $4.20. The latter did not appear for work one bright morning and a few days later it was rumored that he had gone to Philadelphia with the coat. Now, the clerk who owned it second-hand is trying to figure up whether he is a gainer or loser.—Syracuse Post.

A Curious Law.

A suburban beadle whose charge is near Glasgow has been reprimanded by his kirk session for taking the copper collections of the "plate" to a neighboring pub. on the Monday and getting a silver exchange prior to lodging the offertory in the bank.

Said by Ireland's Astronomer.

Sir Robert Ball, the astronomer royal for Ireland, is said to believe that the time is approaching when posterity will be able to construct machinery that will be operated with heat obtained by the direct action of the sun's rays.

Preparing for Peace.

The Argentine government will shortly order the construction of six new torpedo boats, and likewise projects ordering two new cruisers. The total cost of these vessels is estimated at $5,000,000.

To Be a Great Convention

New York, June 6.—Steamers leaving today from this port will carry the American delegates to the third biennial convention of the World's Christian Temperance union. The convention will open in London on the 14th, and arrangements have been made for 250 women preachers and speakers to address as many different audiences on that date. At the last meeting of the state unions in America delegates to the convention were elected or provision made for representation through other delegates, so that every American state will be represented. The American delegates will number 100. Miss Willard has been occupied for some weeks in completing in time for publication for the world's conference her manual of organization for the white ribbon societies.

Japan to Be a Competitor.

San Francisco, June 6.—Charles E. Pierce, a jute and cotton manufacturer of St. Louis, who has just returned from a business tour through the orient, is of the opinion that Japan will soon become an important factor in the manufacturing industries of the world. He says that the reports of the United States consuls show that the competition which the United States has to fear is not that of Europe, but of East India and Japan. He visited Japan to investigate the advisability of removing the works of his company to the orient, and addressed the Chamber of Commerce of this city on his investigation.

Illinois Bankers Meet.

Rock Island, Ill., June 6.—Representative bankers and business men from all parts of the state were present yesterday at the opening of the fifth annual convention of the Bankers' Association of Illinois. President T. J. Robinson of the Rock Island National bank welcomed the members and E. S. Dreyer, president of the association, responded on behalf of the delegates. Then followed the reports of the president, secretary, treasurer and executive council and the appointment of the committee on nominations. Many interesting papers were read.

Gossip Over Cabinet Changes.

Washington, June 5.—There appears to be no doubt that Attorney General Olney has practically accepted the premier's portfolio. There has been a decided revival of the talk of the transfer of Postmaster General Wilson to the attorney generalship. There is also some talk that Secretary Hoke Smith may receive the position. The general impression is that the president wants to put a western man in the cabinet.

Gail Hamilton's Mind Gone.

Washington, June 6.—Mary A. Dodge, (Gail Hamilton), rested easier yesterday, but is unconscious almost all the time. It is understood that Miss Dodge's mind has gone almost entirely, and the suggestion is made by a member of the family that if she should eventually recover it is doubtful if her former strong intellect would remain with her.

Forest Fires in Maryland.

Madrid, June 6.—Captain Clavijo, who drouth prevails here, and forest fires are raging in every direction. Thousands of acres of valuable timber are being destroyed, as well as fencing and other property. In some localities people have had great difficulty in saving their homes from the flames.

Loaded Down with Debt.

Washington, June 6.—A semi-official statement has been received here from the leaders of one of the most influential elements in Cuba showing that the war expenditures are becoming so enormous and the sugar and tobacco industries so unprofitable that they believe a general uprising will result from the hard times caused.

For Johnson and Zimmerman.

Ashbury Park, N. J., June 6.—The race committee of the Ashbury Park Wheelmen last night telegraphed John S. Johnson a challenge for a match race with Arthur A. Zimmerman to be run here during the national meet in July. The challenge was sent with Zimmerman's consent and contemplates a race of any distance desired by Johnson from a quarter of a mile to fifty miles. The stake is to be $5,000 a side. It is thought a match between these two fast men will now certainly be arranged.

IT'S EASY TO GET IN, where there's a sluggish liver, for any of the germs of disease that surround you. If your liver were active and healthy, it would keep them out of your blood. You'll have to watch your liver for self-protection. Just as soon as you see the first symptoms that it's wrong (eruptions on the skin, or a dull and worn-out feeling) you ought to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That will start your liver into a healthy, natural action, purify your blood, too; it will brace up your whole system, and give you strength and color, and put on needed flesh—not fat, but wholesome, necessary flesh. Milford Centre, O.
Dr. R. V. Pierce: Dear Sir—I heartily recommend your "Discovery" to any person suffering from general debility as the best thing they can take for it. After taking the "Discovery" I am happy to say I never felt better in my life than I do now.
